Planned Parenthood Advocates of Arizona Announces its Early Endorsement of Felecia Rotellini

PHOENIX – Planned Parenthood Advocates of Arizona announced last week at its annual fundraising luncheon that it is making an early endorsement in support of Felecia Rotellini, candidate for Arizona Attorney General.

Rotellini was among three statewide candidates who received early endorsement. Consideration was made because of the importance of the races and each candidate's commitment to making women's health a pillar in his or her campaign.

"Felecia is someone who will be a champion for Arizonans," says Jodi Liggett, Director of Public Policy, Planned Parenthood Advocates of Arizona. "She will call out unconstitutional laws and work in the best interest of the citizens of our state."

With extremists having prevalence at the Capitol, this year's election is the opportunity for moderate, common-sense candidates to be elected into office – people who truly represent the interests and wellbeing of Arizonans.

"I believe that women are empowered when we have the right to make the best decisions for ourselves, when we can take responsibility for our own care," says Rotellini.
